Guest Speaker - Dr. Steele, President

- we have been in a financial difficulty but we are getting out of that lately
- the demographic is going down (2.9 million less students than '11) and we are competing with other university because of less students applying
- currently working hard on having the majors that students would want to study in (will have series of computer majors later on)
- there was an enrollment increase in F'18 and hoping for the same increase in F'19
- another concern is to improve the student experience (in/out of class)
- congrats to all the graduating seniors and he appreciates the participation in student government
- questions:
  - how do you plan on fixing the problem in limited housing?
    - last year was the first year (in his 3½ years here) with housing shortage and almost at 100% of completion
    - looked into building new housing complex next to north hall and spent money on designs and blueprints but couldn't because of financial budget (but the idea is back on the table)
    - working with companies for housing off campus that are walking distance but no agreement has been made yet however there are lists of places to refer students to but it is a little bit more expensive (worst case scenario)

- a. Only thing to mention this week is the Business Engagement happening Thursday. All students are welcome and encouraged to participate as a panel will give feedback on your pitch and resume. Overall, it has been a great semester networking with other organizations and excited for what the future holds. Becoming a familiar face with the administration and faculty has strengthened ties with Woodbury, and withhold the high standards expected as a Senator.

School of Media, Culture, and Design

1. Niomie Glory niomie.glory@woodbury.edu
  - a. This year has been the start of the WURadio with their branding and introduction to the rest of the campus. Has been the push for furthering the communication with the graphic design students of all years and also the continuous promotion for the art and computer science program in everything they have to offer to build the department. This year has been very eventful and has been eye opening in what the students want to see improved around the school and in their departments. Thank you for allowing me to be part of this journey and hopefully we can continue growing next year.
